PROGRAM BOGGED
IN BOTH BRANCHES*Campaign to Revive Business
Gains As Arguments Are
Advanced*LEADERS CONCERNED*Frown Upon Investigations
Which Might Frighten Business

By William S. Neal
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The campaign in Congress to aid revival of business gained momentum today as the Roosevelt special session program was still bogged in both branches.

Further modification of business tax laws was considered by the House Tax Sub-Committee as plans were quietly devised for an economy fight in an effort to balance the budget.

Leaders apparently frowned upon investigations and other moves which might frighten business and bring about a further recession, while liberal members impatiently withheld their fire.

The Senate was still throttled by the anti-lynching filibuster, while the House, with no business on hand, turned to partisan debate.

The attitude of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, as indicated by Senate leaders who conferred with him, encouraged those members who are fighting for measures to aid business. He indicated opposition to new taxes which would hamper production, and favored strict economy.

The farm program was stalled in both Senate and House Agriculture Committees while the fate of the wage-hour bill apparently depended upon the result of the fight to force a House vote by the petition method.

Chairman Vinson (D) of Kentucky of the House Tax Sub-Committee, was jubilant over the extensive revision of the capital gains and loss tax worked out by his sub-committee.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Chuckling Republicans today watched the Senate anti-lynching filibuster develop into a speech-making melee showing a Democratic lineup split with discord.

The Republican minority held its collective tongue, as Democrats raked laws and policies of their own administration.

Southern Democrats pounded away to stave off a vote on the Wagner-Vannoy anti-lynching bill, and their filibuster appeared to be gaining strength. But this success came at the cost of an airing of individual grievances of Southern conservatives, dealing with everything under the broad canopy of President Roosevelt's New Deal.

Meanwhile Senator Vandenberg (R) of Michigan, curled his long legs under a chair, and silently smiled with amazement at friction across the aisle.

Thus far, two Southern orators of the old school have held forth, ostensibly on the evils of the anti-lynching bill but actually on every thought crossing their mind. They were Senators Tom Connally (D) of Texas, anti-lynching opposition leader, and Josiah Bailey (D) of North Carolina, who still held the floor today, and who believes a hollow white bone the best fishing bait obtainable.

Mr. Hearn was the recipient of many gifts.

Warns of Man Passing
Checks Said To Be False

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 18.—Chief of Police James Welsh has sent out teletype warnings concerning a man who has given his name as J. M. Adams who forged a check bearing the name of Edward M. Hupp for $39.50, that was cashed in Philadelphia after the stranger had identified himself with a hunter's license.

The check was not Hupp's check but it had been printed specially, the police say, to imitate Hupp's checks, with his name and telephone number on it. Hupp is a local contractor.

HULMEVILLE

Improvements are being made to a few of the shorter streets in the borough, those having a dirt surface being scraped and placed in better condition.

Mr. Jenkins will have as his subject "Slang Expressions." Special musical numbers will be given by the male quartet of the church, and other forms of entertainment will also be provided.

KING GEORGE VI WINS
ALL BRITAIN TO HIS SIDE*Popularity Achieved by Upholding English Conception of Monarch*SEEMS TO FILL THE BILL

(Editor's Note: King George VI. of England is approaching the end of his first year as monarch. International News Service herewith presents the first of a series of six human interest articles describing the ruler and summing up his year of kingship.—INS)

By Dick Halvorsen
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Early in the first year of his reign and with the Coronation cacophony still ringing in his ears, King George VI., new sovereign of the British Empire, has wooed and won a warm place in the hearts of Britain's millions.

Like his father before him, King George V., who died loved and respected by all, the new monarch seems to exactly fill the bill in the minds of most of his countrymen of what a king ought to be.

In the short space of ten months, since the first words of King Edward VIII's abdication plans rocked the nation, the shy and timid Duke of York of that day has ascended from comparative obscurity to a position rivaling the early popularity of his elder brother Edward.

From whatever aspect you look at him, George VI. seems to have made good.

Not only has he won over his people, but he seems to have a complete understanding with his ministers and the Church.

His character, his way of living, his queen and his family, all seem to measure up to the Briton's conception of a king.

He has not even his father's occasional petulance. No breath of scandal has ever touched him, as it once touched even his father.

Yet he is by no means colorless—unless it can be said that a solid family man, who even without the aid of royalty could probably have made his way in the world, is colorless.

Like his father, he was not bred to kingship, and yet like George V. he has all the qualifications. He possesses the family brains—which are very real indeed; his personality, though attuned to shyness, is sufficiently powerful and variegated to be attractive and interesting; his entire being is bound up in Britain and her people.

Quiet, studious, conscientious, by no means slow-thinking, George VI. is determined to make a success of his job. Since Edward VII. he is the only member of the Royal Family who really wanted to be king and who apparently thought that some day his chance might come. He has built his entire life, since his marriage in 1923, towards possible kingship.

Whether he will ever be called a "great king" is another matter. He will certainly always be the kind of king the British want to perch on the Throne of England.

Mrs. Edward W. Sanders
To Be in Spelling Contest

The spelling ability of a Bristol girl is bringing her distinction on the campus of Temple University.

She is the former Theresa Flood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flood, of Bristol, who was married in September to Mr. Edward W. Sanders, of Philadelphia. Mrs. Sanders, a Senator at Temple, has been selected to participate in a spelling contest between Temple and Bucknell that will be broadcast from radio station WFIL, Sunday, November 21.

Mrs. Sanders is a graduate of Philadelphia's Catholic Girls High School, where she was editor of the school paper and the year book.

At Temple her activities include membership in the French and Secondary Education Clubs and the English Honor Society.

KIDNAPERS CAPTURED AFTER PRISON BREAK

Captured without a shot being fired after they had overpowered five guards in making their escape from Onondaga County Prison, two of the three jail-breaking kidnapers of the O'Connell youth, of Albany, are shown above, after they were nabbed in a downtown rooming house in Syracuse, N. Y. At left is John Oley, and at right, Harold Crowley. The third of the trio, Percy Geary, is still at large. The men had sawed through the bars of their cell. They were awaiting transfer to Alcatraz Prison.

STORY OF RUBBER TOLD TO HULMEVILLE P. T. A.*Mr. Toothaker, of Museum Extension Service, Shows Pictures, Gives Address*COMMITTEES NAMED

HULMEVILLE, Nov. 18.—"The Story of Rubber" was told to members of the Hulmeville-Middletown Parent-Teacher Association, last evening, with colored slides augmenting the informative talk by C. Toothaker, of the Commercial Museum Extension Service, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Edwin M. Lathrop, newly-elected president of the P. T. A., introduced the speaker, who showed his pictures prior to the business meeting. A number of students were also present, approximately 80 enjoying the program of the evening.

By means of the attractively colored slides the manner in which the rubber trees grow in the jungle was shown, then the planting of such on plantations, the tapping for the milk, the method of drying and smoking of the rubber to preserve it for shipment. Next it was shown how the rubber is further dried and rolled, then manufactured into all types of articles.

Supplementing his talk and showing of pictures, Mr. Toothaker took to the Methodist Church, where the lecture occurred, many articles made of rubber, such as tubes, shoes, tires, mats, balls, etc. The types of knives used to tap the trees to secure the milk were also shown.

An exceptionally interesting demonstration was one in which Mr. Toothaker dried up ammonia and other liquids in milk from a rubber tree, then by means of an acid solution "manufactured" a mass of rubber.

The speaker informed that the highest quality of rubber comes from the Brazilian rubber trees, but his pictures also showed how rubber is grown in Central America and the Island of Sumatra. A number of questions were answered for those attending.

During the business meeting Mrs. Albert Wunsch read minutes of the last meeting, and Mrs. John R. Worrell presented the standing of the treasury account. Mrs. Wunsch also read an invitation for members of the local P. T. A. to attend an afternoon meeting at the new school building in Andalusia, on Saturday, December 4th. A brief account of the Bucks County P. T. A. banquet at Doylestown was given by the president.

Named on the refreshment committee to serve on special occasions were: Mrs. William Wheeler and Mrs. Leon Conly. The program committee is to

BUYS THREE PROPERTIES

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 18.—Announcement was made today of the purchase of new properties by the Bell Telephone company at Pineville, Carversville and Buckingham preparatory to the erection of one-story brick buildings to house new dial equipment. This is the first step in the company's improvement program which will bring dial service to these localities by the fall of 1938.

Young People To Present
A Fine Minstrel Program

The Young People's Fellowship of St. James' Church is giving in the parish house, Walnut and Wood streets, tomorrow evening at 8.15 o'clock, an unusually interesting program, consisting of minstrels, joyously interspersed with catchy songs and "new" jokes.

The end men are most entertaining as Miss Lola McLaughlin keeps Cyril Henton at his wits' ends in quick and lively repartee.

Harold Coon, a splendid interlocutor, also brings music in the air by the aid of his saxophone. Solos are being rendered by the Misses Violet Burtonwood and Edna Heggings. Arnold North with his pleasing voice sings "A Sail Boat in the Moonlight," while James Solter will delight with his sympathetic singing of "Empty Saddles."

Between acts, Robert Townend, the Lone Ranger, will give his cowboy songs.

A play, "The Radio Half-Back," in which Louis Townsend stars as the inventor, and the Misses Violet and Helen Burtonwood, Elizabeth Bailey and the Messrs. Lawrence McCoy and Charles Perkins all portray interesting characters, and "shocking dilemmas," will close an evening of many laughs.

The World StrifeBy International News Service

The Far Eastern war and civil strife in Spain, with its continuing threat of trouble in the Mediterranean, became more closely intertwined today, as Japanese troops pushed on toward Nanking.

Shanghai—Japanese authorities reported today that Chinese troops were fleeing from Soochow, key point in the Chinese "Hindenburg Line" as Nippon's army advanced along three routes.

Paris—France, already preoccupied in Spanish and Mediterranean affairs, was startled by a statement from Henri Berenger that Japan has threatened to blockade French Indo-China ports.

Tokyo—Japan was reported ready to recognize the Spanish rebel regime on November 25th.

Berlin—Viscount Halifax of Britain, effecting to improve Anglo-German relations, plunged into a series of talks today with Colonel Goering and Foreign Minister von Neurath, in Berlin, preparatory to his momentous "informal" huddle with Chancellor Hitler.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICSBy FRANK R. KENT*(Copyright, 1937, by The Baltimore Sun)*Strange Advice

IT SEEMS inevitable that in his reflective moments the thought should occur to the President that for four years he has been getting pretty bad advice and that the major policies he thus has been induced to pursue never really added up to a logical total. In light of present-day facts it is difficult to see how any other view can be held.

TAKE, for example, the two most vociferously proclaimed New Deal objectives—first, to bring about a better distribution of wealth, and,

DOYLESTOWN ADOPTS
ZONING ORDINANCE*New Law Passes Third and Final Reading by Borough Council*GREAT STEP FORWARD

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 18.—This borough now has a modern zoning ordinance which has just passed third and final reading.

Commenting on the new ordinance after attaching his signature, Chief Burgess George S. Hotchkiss, who is retiring from office this year, said:

"If nothing else had been accomplished during my term in office, I would feel that the enactment of this zoning ordinance well repaid the long years of agitation in favor of the step. Doylestown has taken a long step forward toward orderly, planned development that is sure to be an encouragement also for other boroughs that have been holding back. Borough Council deserves the commendation of citizens for the manner in which it handled the ordinance, and the members of the Zoning Commission thanks for the earnest, careful and efficient study they gave, in co-operation with the Knickerbocker Boyd Associates whose efficiency has been highly commended."

Muni As "Zola" Comes To Grand For Two-Night Run

Paul Muni, whose most recent film, "The Story of Louis Pasteur," won for him the coveted gold statuette of the Motion Picture Academy as the best actor of 1936, comes to the Grand Theatre today in another epic story—"The Life of Emile Zola."

The Zola movie is declared to excel even the previous masterpiece. It begins with the early struggle of Zola as a novelist, carries him along to wealth and fame, and goes thoroughly into his magnificent crusade on behalf of Captain Dreyfus, the army officer who was falsely accused of selling military secrets, and was unjustly convicted and sent to Devil's Island.

Muni, of course, plays Zola. Another splendid actor, Joseph Schildkraut, portrays the unfortunate Dreyfus. The rest of the cast is practically all-star.

HAS BEEN VERY ACTIVE*During Past Year a Total of 1,674 Nursing Visits
Were Made*NURSE COVERS BIG AREA

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 18.—The Red Cross in its report for the past year shows an admirable record made by the Morrisville Branch in public health nursing.

Under the general heading of Public Health Nursing are grouped 14 services and in the reports of Mrs. J. E. Erwin, branch chairman, these are shown to include rural school nursing, bedside care to the chronically ill, maternity and infant care, prenatal instruction and assistance to the doctor in the home, health supervision for communicable diseases, group instruction in home hygiene, well baby conferences and a limited amount of school nursing.

According to Mrs. Erwin, who, as branch chairman, is also a member of the local committee in charge of the enrollment of new members during the Red Cross roll call, approximately 1,674 public health nursing visits were made in the period of July, 1936, to June, 1937.

There is one nurse who covers Morrisville and Falls Township, a total of 16 square miles, and a population of 7,500. This nurse does general nursing, including bedside care of ill in homes, maternity and infant care, prenatal instruction and care of communicable diseases.

ASKS SCHOOL BOARD TO PAY STATE LESS
THAN HALF A CENT*Commonwealth of Pa. Says
Check Should Have Been
$256.82, Not $256.81*COSTLY "EFFICIENCY"*The Actual Difference is Only Thirty-Five One-Hundredths of a Cent

A most amazing example of the "efficiency" of the present administration at Harrisburg has just been reported by the Secretary of the Bristol Borough School Board.

In February of this year Paul Foster, secretary of Bristol School Board, received the large and elaborate blank form for reporting to Harrisburg the amount of the school board's bonded indebtedness and computing the tax levied and collected by Harrisburg on all such indebtedness at the rate of four mills. Prior to 1937, school boards were required only to report the amount of their indebtedness; and the Department of Revenue at Harrisburg then computed the tax and billed the school board. But this year, school boards were required to compute the tax and to send a check in full payment at once.

The Secretary of the Bristol board promptly referred the matter to the Treasurer, and together they computed the tax. The gross tax amounted to $270.33, subject to a deduction of 5% of the tax for what is called a "treasurers' commission," but which actually amounts only to a discount. Five per cent of $270.33, according to all rules of arithmetic commonly used in Bristol, came to $13.5165. Since the fractional part of the cent was more than one-half, the local officers (again following what they believed to be well-established custom not only in Bristol, but elsewhere), concluded that the deduction should be $13.52. This amount was deducted from $270.33, leaving $256.81 as the net tax. A check for $256.81 was promptly forwarded to Harrisburg and was accepted.

But now the Secretary of the Board has received from Harrisburg, by first-class mail, a Statement of Delinquent Tax, which states that the check should have been, not $256.81, but $256.82; and that there is therefore due the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, from the School District of Bristol, the vast sum of one cent.

In other words, for an actual difference of only thirty-five one-hundredths of a cent, as to which no ordinary person would raise the least question, the Department of Revenue at Harrisburg has seen fit to spend three cents for postage, plus stationery, plus the time of making necessary bookkeeping entries to show this difference, plus the time of referring the matter to its delinquent tax division, plus the time and cost of making up and mailing the statement of delinquency to the local school board—all at the poor taxpayers' expense—to say nothing of the additional time and expense that will be involved at this end in forwarding the great sum of one cent to Harrisburg, to be followed by more bookkeeping and more stationery and more postage at Harrisburg to let the local board know that this precious one cent has arrived safely and has joined millions of its fellows in the great work of collecting more pennies. How very efficient our great State Government has become!

THANKSGIVING TURKEY

With Thanksgiving Day only one week away, the family thoughts are turned to the feast that marks the occasion. For the great majority of festive gatherings turkey will be the main course of the meal. To these it will be good news that the wholesale price is only one cent more than last year.

But there is ample compensation for the additional penny. The birds are said to be more plump. They have been better fed and should be plump and juicy. The crop is about ten per cent less than a year ago, when it was estimated that there were 20,000,000 turkeys on American farms.

Dealers in dressed birds who have been watching the early arrivals for the Thanksgiving trade say that they are more like those of years back than the ones marketed in 1936.

SCIENTISTS, HUH?

Two hundred psychologists, biologists and educators went to take a look at those Dionne girls. For half an hour, the learned 200 watched from behind a wire and glass screen around the quintuplets' playground while the five little girls "rode their velocipedes furiously, sang off key, swept the walk with small brooms" and did other things, oblivious of the scientific eyes watching them.

And what was the scientists' verdict? Several said "Aren't they cute?" One said "Better than a five-ring circus" and another "Adorable!"

True, the scientists pulled themselves together long enough to go into a huddle out of which came this description of the famous five drawn up by a Toronto psychologist: Yvonne—the most motherly, Annette—the most aggressive, Emilie—the most independent, Cecile—the most unpredictable, Marie—the most sympathetic.

But Allan R. Dafoe, M. D., the quintuplets' country doctor, produced a briefer and more pointed analysis when he remarked: "I would just say 'smart kids'."

And then the 200 wise men went away. Scientists, huh?

CALLING COLLEGE GRADUATES

College Men Wanted for Police Careers—Pennsylvania item.

It seems unfortunate that more colleges do not give the profession of policeman a tumble. There's an awful lot of good football talent that would come in handy.

So many young men come out of college and just wait around. Obviously, they could as well—or better—wait around in scout cars or in alleys on motorcycles.

More and more trained minds are what is needed on the progressive police force, if only to think of some snappy answers to citizens' repeated charges that the police are falling down.

Then, too, college graduates usually are somewhat accomplished as public speakers; and the standards of public speaking of our traffic cops is not all that might be desired—by restrained motorists and jay walkers.

ing returns and threaten the destruction of the very wealth he seeks to distribute. Equally clear is it that when he increases the cost of doing business, lays upon it burdens and imposes restrictions which prevent it from making money, he not only makes it impossible for business to provide jobs for the unemployed but adds to their number and enhances their distress. Again and again and again this has been pointed out by opponents of the New Deal, but until recently the only result has been a chorus of denunciation, the dominant note of which was that these were "destructive critics," not concerned with "human rights."

NOW THAT the inescapable consequences of this extraordinary course are manifested in a definite slump which swells the ranks of the jobless and is a matter of serious apprehension to every thoughtful man, a remarkable change has taken place in Washington. The fundamental mistake of the Administration's hostility to business appears accepted at both ends of Pennsylvania avenue. Despite the President's assertion that governmental policies are not responsible, the best evidence of which he knows better lies in his changed attitude, the altered tone of his message, and the absence of embittered words. As for Congress, it is literally amazing that at the outset of an extra session, called for certain specified purposes, they should be overshadowed by interest in one not even in the back of the President's mind when the call was made—to wit, the necessity of removing the handicaps which have reduced business to its present condition and put an end to the New Deal game of harassment.

VIEWING THIS state of affairs, it would be natural for the President to feel resentful toward the ardent young gentlemen whose zeal for remaking America influenced him to take steps which, under strong pressure of economic realities, he is now compelled to retrace. It would be natural—and certainly wholesome—if, recognizing the mess in which they have involved him, instead of trying to shift the blame, he would sweep them out of his Administration and bar the White House door—particularly the back door—to their kind.

BUT, has he done that? Not yet. Last Sunday, in the New York "Times," Mr. Arthur Krock, who does not make irresponsible statements, reported that at a White House conference which preceded the Presidential message, two of the President's intimate counselors expressed themselves as believing that the capitalistic system was not worth saving and it would be better for Mr. Roosevelt to make no concessions to business. Mr. Krock asserted that it was Mr. Harry Hopkins—of all people—who dissented from this view, defended the capitalistic system, and that Mr. Roosevelt agreed with him. That is worth thinking over. Here in the White House, on the eve of an extra session of Congress, with the nation expecting a message that will reassure business, the President of the United States is told by two of his intimates that the capitalistic system is not worth saving and urged to let things slide. That, at such a time—or at any time—he should have such men among his intimate advisers is a strange thing, indeed. It is strange advice for an American President to receive, and it is strange that an American President should have close to him men capable of giving it. The incident deserves a good deal more publicity than it has gotten. If the full implications of that White House debate were generally grasped, there might easily arise a demand for names and a great national indignation. Because, in effect, what these friends of Mr. Roosevelt urge is revolution.

be headed by Mrs. Walter Hanns, who will name her aides.

Telling of her plans to have between $200 and $300 raised within the next year for use of equipment for the school, Mrs. Lathrop named the following on the ways and means committee, with additional ones to be named later: Mrs. Charles Gardner, Mrs. O'Neill, Mrs. George Thorpe, Mrs. J. R. Worrall, Mrs. Earl Phipps, Mrs. Uwellan Miller, Mrs. Albert Wunsch, Mrs. Clifford Vansant, Mrs. Hugh B. Webster, Mrs. Walter Haas, Mrs. Leferts, Mrs. Laird, Mrs. William Perry, Miss Margaret Perry, Mrs. Arthur Martindell. One of the purchases looked forward to from some of the money to be raised is a set of chairs for the basement auditorium.

Mrs. Lynn Shatzer was requested to present to the organization each month a brief resume of some interesting article in the P. T. A. magazine, with discussion on the topic to follow. The possibility of landscaping the front of the school grounds at a later date was considered, this to add to appearance of the property and prevent pupils from getting near the wall.

Plans were discussed for a Christmas eve celebration, with carols to be sung about a lighted community tree on the school grounds. Jesse C. Everitt was requested to secure an evergreen, with Miss Margaret Perry and Mrs. Lathrop in charge of the program of carols.

A motion was passed to purchase a blanket for use in the school rest room.

The attendance banner was awarded to the fourth and fifth grades.

SAYS "DRESSING BY CALENDAR" CAUSES COLDS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 18.—Dressing by the calendar is responsible for many of the common colds so prevalent at this season, in the opinion of Dr. J. Moore Campbell, of the State Health Department.

Unfailing practice of donning flannel undies on the first day of winter regardless of what the temperature may be or the discarding of the heavy overcoat with the official opening of spring, even though the thermometer may hover near zero, are what Dr. Campbell condemns as calendar dressing.

Dr. Campbell, who is the head of the Bureau of Health Conservation of the Department, says the laying down of any hard and fast rules for the prevention of colds is impossible inasmuch as the real causes of the common cold are not yet clearly understood. The character of the infection which causes colds remains a mystery. Body chill or perhaps wet feet seem in many instances to prepare the way for a cold.

Since there is so much yet to be learned about the cause of colds, definite preventives cannot be suggested with any great or certain degree of success, it was pointed out.

"But of this I am convinced," said Dr. Campbell, "there is too much dressing by the calendar."

"For instance, people put on heavy underwear to sit about in warm or even hot rooms. Their bodies become overheated and moist with perspiration, then they pass into cold corridors or other rooms where the same temperature has not been maintained. Result is body chilling, favoring the catching of a cold."

He also stressed the importance of a wholesome diet, plenty of exercise and thorough personal hygiene in building up body resistance to colds.

"And when we have a cold," said Dr. Campbell, "we owe it to our fellows to take elementary precautions to prevent its transmission to others. Cover the mouth when coughing and the nose when sneezing."

"If you are associated with one having a cold be careful that you do not become infected through the spray from the cold victim's mouth. Talking to the person ill with a cold or even facing him may result in your receiving this germ laden spray and his cold.

"Remember colds can be dangerous. They may lead to something much more serious. Take immediate steps to be cured of a cold as soon as you detect its presence."

KNOW YOUR STATE

Our Building Materials
(Prepared for The Courier by F. A. Pitkin, Executive Director, Pennsylvania State Planning Board)

Even houses that are built of wood require the use of many materials that must be quarried from the ground. They must have glass for their windows; stone, brick, or cement for their chimneys, foundations, and sidewalks; porcelain or tile for their bathrooms; asbestos or slate for their walls. Pennsylvania is able not only to fill her own needs for nearly all of these things, but also to ship large quantities of such products as cement, lime, glass, and slate to other localities.

Limestone has the widest use of all Pennsylvania rocks, and the State produces more of it than any other state except Ohio. It is used in the making of cement, plaster, concrete, and glass. Farmers use lime in fertilizing their fields. It also plays an important part in the manufacturing of many products, including paper, metal, glass, leather, and sugar.

Portland cement, made of a special kind of clayey limestone crushed, roasted, and mixed with other materials, is used on a wide scale for building modern concrete highways, streets, and sidewalks, and in the construction of large buildings. Pennsylvania was one of the pioneers in this industry, and still produces almost one-fourth of all the cement in the country. Slate, a brittle rock used in the making of durable fireproof roofs and school blackboards, is found in larger quantities in the Lehigh Valley section than in any other part of the United States. Other kinds of building stone are also quarried in many parts of the State.

From the clay found within her borders this State manufactures annually many million dollars worth of clay products, such as brick, tile, terracotta, sewer pipe, and refractories (or fire brick). In this field, as in limestone, Pennsylvania ranks second only to Ohio. Modern building construction, emphasizing less solid wall and greater window area, is making more and more use of glass, which is another of the mineral products in which we specialize. In fact we produce about one-fourth of the nation's glass. Glass blowing used to be one of the most highly skilled of trades, but in recent years machines have replaced most of the skilled hand labor in the glass industry.

Thanksgiving

... with nary a misgiving

She knows her holiday dinner is "tops" in quality --- she buys at Unity-Frankford Stores.

Some unwritten code demands that Thanksgiving dinner be the finest of the year . . . That's easy — if you can go forth with your shopping bag determined to buy the best regardless of cost . . . but few housewives may be so rash. Budgets won't stretch and extra dollars are hard to get.

That is why so many housewives favor buying at Unity-Frankford and Frankford Association Stores. Unity Brands and Frankford Brands, sold only in these stores, are the answer to her demand for quality at reasonable cost.

NEWTOWN GUILD HAS GARNERED 1411 GARMENTS

Annual Exhibit is Held in The New Century Club Headquarters

A FINE PROGRAM

NEWTOWN, Nov. 18.—The Newtown Needlework Guild was addressed at its annual meeting and exhibit of garments in the New Century Club, by Mrs. Frank B. Milnor, president of the Glenside Branch of the Guild.

Mrs. Milnor was enthusiastic over the work of the Guild which she considers one of the most worthwhile charities. Music was furnished by vocal solos sung by Mrs. Julian T. Hammond, 3d, and piano solos by Mrs. David Feaster.

The Newtown Branch received 1,411 garments this year, 157 more than last year. Many of these were donations given by organizations who have accepted directorships in the Guild.

There are 24 directors in this branch, 26 money members and 319 garment members. Following is the list of individual directors and organizations who are also directors:

Mrs. Herman Barnsley, Mrs. Amos Bond, Mrs. Elizabeth Case, Mrs. Orville Courtney, Mrs. Horace Effrig, Mrs. Charles Goodnoe, Mrs. Julia T. Hammond, 3d, Miss Rose Keeler, Mrs. Reuben P. Kester, Mrs. Walter H. Mohr, Miss Sara Packer, Miss Elizabeth Palmer, Mrs. Mary Peters, Mrs. M. Anna Smith, Mrs. Granville Stradling, Mrs. LeRoy Suber, Mrs. Mary Waugh, Neshaminy Chapter of Eastern Star, New Century Club, Junior New Century Club, St. Vincent's Society of the Catholic Church, Tuesday Bridge Club.

During the evening meeting, Mrs. Helen L. Satterthwaite, Bucks County representative of the Red Cross, spoke on "How the Guild Can Help in Red Cross Case Work."

COMMUNICATION

Editor Courier:

We want to take this opportunity of expressing to you our appreciation for your splendid co-operation in the observance of American Education Week. The Bristol Courier played a very vital part in offering such a generous amount of space for our use in focusing the attention of the public to the function of the schools in the community.

The growth of public interest in the schools has shown a marked increase in the last few years. Over 800 persons visited us last week and became acquainted with the teachers of their children and the school where the lives of these children are so much affected for future usefulness.

We hope we will continue to have your co-operation in presenting useful information about the community's greatest public agency.

Very truly yours,
WARREN P. SNYDER,
Superintendent,
Bristol Public Schools.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

TURKEY prices have dropped several cents in the past week which promises well for Thanksgiving. Other meat prices, with the exception of lamb, are either unchanged or a little lower.

Fresh eggs continue to be scarce but an abundant supply of fine quality storage eggs are available at low cost. Butter prices promise to be higher before they can be lower. Cheese is an excellent and inexpensive food.

The Florida orange season is progressing in quality as well as quantity. Grapefruit, apples, bananas, grapes, pears, chestnuts and pecans make fruit markets appealing to a shopper. Outstanding vegetables are broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage, Brussels sprouts, celery, lettuce, potatoes, spinach and yellow turnips.

Seasonable foods make up the following menus.

- Low Cost Dinner
Pot Roast of Beef Potatoes
Sweet-sour Red Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Tapioca Cream with Bananas

TIMELY

You Will Want to Try!

Prune-Apple Stuffing

Three cups bread crumbs; one teaspoon salt; one-eighth teaspoon pepper; one-half cup broken nut meats; one-fourth cup melted shortening; one-half cup stewed and stoned prunes and one cup apples, pared, sliced and stewed. Blend all ingredients and fill into bird.

Apple-Celery Stuffing

Fry one-half cup diced salt pork in a large pan. Take out the bits of pork and into the fat put one heaping cup of celery; one cup of onion; one-third cup of parsley, all chopped fine. After two minutes frying, take out these ingredients and into the pan put about 10 sour apples, cut in dices and sweeten with one-half cup sugar.

Cook for a few minutes, then put in two cups of bread crumbs, the onion and parsley combination, also the bits of cooked pork. Put this inside the washed bird and roast 20 to 25 minutes per pound, basting frequently.

How Much Stuffing?

A 14 to 16 pound turkey, as purchased, usually requires nine to ten cups of stuffing. One-half cup of stuffing for each serving is the average quota.

Spicy Pumpkin Pie

Two cups pumpkin; one cup brown sugar; one-half teaspoon grated nutmeg; one-fourth teaspoon salt; three eggs, separated; one-half teaspoon each ginger, ground cloves, allspice; one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon; three cups scalded milk.

To cooked or canned pumpkin, add egg yolks, brown sugar, salt, nutmeg, spices and mix well. Add milk and fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pour into pastry shell and bake. For variation, serve a teaspoon of strained honey in a mound of whipped cream on each slice.

Fruit Tapioca

One-fourth cup quick-cooking tapioca; one cup hot water; two cups finely chopped apples; one-half cup sugar; one-fourth teaspoon salt; one cup crushed pineapple, drained; two tablespoons lemon juice; two tablespoons butter. Flavor may be varied by a bit of cinnamon.

Drop tapioca into boiling water in top of double boiler and cook over boiling water for five minutes, stirring frequently. Add apples and cook until just tender. Add remaining ingredients, stirring until well blended. Pour into sherbet glasses. Serve hot or chilled, with top milk, or whipped cream, or a light grating of nutmeg. Serves four.

Frozen Pear Salad

Six pear halves, one-fourth cup shredded Malaga grapes; whipped cream mayonnaise; French dressing; three tablespoons shredded dates; lettuce hearts.

Add a little dressing to the pears and let stand a few minutes. Fill the centers with the dates, grapes and mayonnaise, mixed. Place in refrigerator tray and freeze for one to two hours, or use a tightly-covered dish, buried in equal parts of ice and salt. Serve garnished with the lettuce hearts.

ANDALUSIA ELEVEN
PREPARES FOR ST. ANN'S

Boasting of the finest record of all independent teams of this vicinity, the Andalusia Green Jackets are priming for their contest with the St. Ann's A. A. gridlers which takes place this coming Sunday on the Andalusia field, State Road and Station avenue.

Joe Diamanti's charges have won their last seven games and only a defeat at the hands of the Greeby A. C. sustained in the opening game of the season blurs the record which is as follows:

Andalusia
0	Greeby	6
12	S. Phillies	6
6	Northeast	0
2	Oxford	0
14	Holy Souls	6
6	Holmesburg	3
6	Circle C. C.	0
80	Total	21

This is a far better record than can be shown by the Wood street boys who have been successful in three games and lost four. They have scored a total of 68 points while their opponents have 55. Coach Dougherty's proteges have met stiffer opposition than the boys down the road, having played Burlington, Disston, Doylestown, Carlisle, Sellersville, Morrisville, and Alco. All in all, the Andalusia-St. Ann's tilt is expected to be the classic for the fans of this vicinity, notwithstanding the fact that St. Ann's meet the Bristol "Rees" in a Thanksgiving Day fray.

EXTEND DUCK SEASON

COLUMBUS, O.—(INS)—Ohio duck hunters have been given two more days to pursue their favorite sport by the state conservation council. The council extended the season to last from November 15 to 27.

EDGELY ROD AND GUN CLUB
DISCUSSES GAME AFFAIRS

The Edgely Rod and Gun Club held the November meeting Monday evening at the Headley Manor Fire House with President Elwood Britton presiding.

This being the middle of the present game season the meeting was taken up mostly discussing hunting conditions in this vicinity. There seems to be plenty of game, but it was also brought to the attention of the members the scarcity of hen pheasants. This condition was discussed at the Bucks County Federation meeting a week ago and it is planned to stock heavy next spring with more hen pheasants than usual.

The trap committee reports that since the erection of the new automatic trap 4,981 targets have been shot, and the committee is planning on holding a live bird shoot in the near future. The three highest scores turned in this week were William Quinn, Tullytown, getting 21 out of 25; Jack VanAlstine, second, and Lester Shoemaker, third.

There have been very few hands turned in up to the present time and the club is asking the co-operation of all hunters, finding state lands on any birds to turn them in to the club as soon as possible so that they may be recorded.

Refreshments will be served at the next meeting by a committee consisting of William Welker, George Blint, Jr., Harry Pitman, Joseph Wolvin, and Nicholas Mannherz.

Election of officers will also take place at the December meeting and all members are urged to attend.

COX HOLDS RUSSELL
EVEN IN ARENA BOUT

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 18.—Billed as "The Battle of the Bulls," the feature bout at the Arena turned out to be just that last night when Dynamite Joe Cox, Cleveland Bombshell, and Rebel Rod Russell, Georgia Firecracker, locked horns for 12 minutes only to have the bout end in a draw with both wrestlers tangled on the floor outside the ring.

Russell has been cutting quite a path for himself in his recent bouts here, and his performance against the burly Cox gave ample indication that he is a worthy opponent for any of the so-called big names in wrestling.

Cox entered the ring with the acclaim of the gallery in his first appearance here this season, and proved he's still the same Joe Cox. The ox-like Cleveland stung Russell repeatedly with forearm blows, but the latter countered with several well-directed jabs of his own. Brawn and brain were brought to bear as the battle saw-sawed back and forth with neither wrestler getting much the better of the exchange.

Johnny Seaman, playing the part of the referee, was caught unaware on several occasions and found himself locked in the grasp of the writhing chemoths. The fans registered glee much to the latter's embarrassment. But it took more than a referee to keep the maulers separated.

The bout was brought to a rather sudden climax when both wrestlers tumbled from the ring locked in each other's grasp. Both men were squated out as they struggled on the floor.

In the semi-windup, it was the contender for the heavyweight wrestling crown, pinned the popular Bill Sledge, of Texas, in 18 minutes. Cliff Olson, Sweden Swede, used a body press to defeat Mares McLain, of Oklahoma.

SLEEPING
SCALP

Nine persons out of ten have sleeping scalp and do not realize it. Simply because they neglect their hair and scalp.

WHAT IS SLEEPING
SCALP?

Sleeping Scalp is if you have the following condition:

- Dry white Dandruff
- Oily yellow Dandruff
- Hair Loss—Thinning
- Oily Scalp (Seborrhea Oleosa)
- Dry Scalp (Seborrhea Secca)
- Fading Hair
- Brittle Hair
- Itchy Scalp
- Dull Lifeless Hair
- Premature Grayness (Cavities)
- Retarded Growth
- Baldness (Alopecia)
- Sunburned Hair

These conditions are usually the result of a single cause, sluggish, inactivity of the glands and blood vessels of the scalp. To which is given the name Sleeping Scalp.

We scientifically correct all sleeping scalp conditions by eliminating the basic cause of these common hair and scalp troubles.

The method we use is approved by the medical authorities.

after 12 minutes to win the third bout. Jack Holland, of California, added another feather to his cap when he disposed of Casey Berger in 11 minutes, while Sammy Manacher took the opener over Jim Wallis.

To Improve Relations

Berlin, Nov. 18.—Intent on improved Anglo-German relations no matter how the Nazis respond, Viscount Halifax plunged today into a series of "talks" with German Minister Baron Konstantin Von Neurath and Colonel General Herman Wilhelm Goering.

Censor Judges

Philadelphia, Nov. 18.—Judges in 14 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties today were censored by the State Supreme Court for their tardiness in disposing of civil cases.

The high tribunal charged that the delay is "indefensible" in those counties where cases have been argued from six months to more than six and a half years, but which have not been disposed of. Individual jurists, held responsible for the delay, were singled out for criticism by the Court.

WHEN Old Man Winter gets going in high gear, you'll be glad you shifted into HANES! Mister, here's a union-suit that's really velvety soft and warm inside—from your neck all the way to your ankles!

Notice how HANES snugles up to your skin . . . takes the knock out of your knees . . . and the chatter out of your teeth. This is the Heavyweight Champion!

But there's more than protection and warmth in HANES. You get plenty of freedom too—room to bend, twist, stretch, and reach without any binding or clutching! That's what full, honest size does. These suits fit your trunk-length as well as the width of your chest! Buttons, buttonholes, cuffs, and seams sewed for good mileage. See your HANES Dealer today.
